Why we are making a case for overall excellence

This is an opportunity to talk about the exceptional practice that happens at your school. Something that is not routinely seen in other good schools. Why and how do these things make a difference and lead to the flourishing of pupils and adults within the school community. This may be the things that the school community is particularly proud of. Don't think of this as the top level of a grid but instead as an opportunity to highlight the innovative, imaginative and creative work your school does using the deeply Christian features of your school vision. There should be an inherent focus on 'serving the common good' It should go well beyond 'good'

This should reflect the specific needs and context of your local community and will look different from school to school. should There are no boxes to tick, just exceptional practice to identify.

Try and draw examples from across several of the strands. 'One swallow does not a summer make' (Aristotle)
